POLITICS NOT BAD CROPS THE PLAGUE OF BUSINESS

HENRY CLEWS DECLARES

Henry Clews, in his special letter of August 12, discounts the very unfavorable crop report of the government. Since the returns were made the crop situation had improved. Deterioration of corn would be considerably offset by increased acreage. The loss in oats was not so grave a matter since the automobiles had so largely superseded the horse. Compensation for shrinkage in the cereal crops would be found in a larger cotton crop, relieving the cotton industry of the world from the handicap of dear raw materials and the cotton goods industry at home from the embarrassment caused by tariff agitation. Mr. Clews goes on to say:

Plague of Politics.
"Upon general business the present crop situation—can have no harmful effect. Of course, a large yield of corn, wheat and oats would have been very beneficial and was much desired; yet the fact that we are now almost sure of average crops at good prices assures fair business conditions during the next few months. The most serious interference with business at present is the disturbed condition of politics. Industry has been much depressed by continued fruitless tariff agitation and Congressional investigations of industrial corporations. There is no prospect of any genuine tariff action being taken this summer. The sooner Congress adjourns, therefore, and stops talking the better for itself and the people of the United States. Congress is getting upon the business man's nerves by its often intemperate dealing with business matters, which it doesn't or can't fully understand. The country needs a rest from useless and injurious agitation. Investigations, which serve no purpose except to bring ambitious Congressmen into notoriety, have done much to retard a recovery in business which was certainly due, and really promised to develop."

Mr. Clews points out that whatever evils of corporate wealth exist are being gradually removed, and proceeds to remark:

Makes Europe Wonder.
"Business men are tired and disgusted at such persistent interference, which makes the execution of plans on a large scale extending into the future practically impossible. Europe, meanwhile, looks on in wonder at the patience of the average American with what over there often seems hysterical and puerile attacks upon legitimate business methods. All admit that there are evils in our industrial system to be cured, but legislative sandbagging is not the proper cure. Let us have a reasonable and quiet enforcement of the law, instead of hysterical attacks for the sake of political and newspaper notoriety.

Tariff Agitation Baneful.
"When Congress adjourns the country will certainly breathe a deep sigh of relief. The present session, it will be remembered, was called purposely to pass the reciprocity bill with Canada, and it is unfortunate that its activities were not limited to its original purpose. The present tariff agitation has been perfectly useless and resulted only in harm; it being quite evident that this great problem will not be adjusted until after another presidential election. The tariff should be taken out of politics, but that seems impossible for the reason that the interests affected are too strong and too belligerent to be satisfied except by a test of strength; and what is equally potent, the politicians cannot be persuaded to surrender an issue which offers such effective campaign material.

Rest Will Bring Relief.
"No serious tariff changes, therefore, are to be anticipated for some time to come. The question may be again revived, but early action is impossible, and President Taft will surely throw his whole influence against any hasty decision until the evidence gathered by the tariff board has been carefully prepared for public digestion. Such a course is wise, and should aid to restore confidence and soothe the nerves of the over-irritated American manufacturer and merchant. The patience of the average business man has been so overstrained during the past six months that he is apt to take a more pessimistic view of the situation than is really warranted. A few weeks or months of rest from political disturbance, and business sentiment will quickly become more normal and more hopeful."

FREIGHT CARRIED BY OAHU RAILWAY

Following is a statement of the freight carried by the Oahu Railway and Land Company for the year ended June 30, 1911:

The grand total for the year 1908-09 was 416,060, and for the year 1909-10, 531,751 tons. As already explained, the decline for the past year was caused by the extraordinary amount of strike-delayed freight hauled the first part of 1909-10.

NEW VACANCY ON HEALTH BOARD

There is to be no question as to the legality of the Board of Health. Dr. W. D. Baldwin, who has been a member of the body for a number of years, this morning tendered his resignation to Governor Frear, thus removing any chance of there being too many doctors on the board.

The law provides that the board shall be composed of two physicians, four laymen and the attorney general. With the appointment of Dr. Pratt the question arose if the board was legally constituted, inasmuch as Dr. Hobdy and Dr. Baldwin were already on it. Although Dr. Pratt has not been a practicing physician for a number of years, he is still entitled to the title, and there was some doubt raised by this fact.

The governor intimated that he would require some time to consider the matter of a successor. He stated that he regrets to lose Dr. Baldwin, and that he is certain that Dr. Pratt will feel the loss keenly. He considers the resignation a very magnanimous act on Dr. Baldwin's part.

This season's pineapple pack will be about 750,000 cases. Tracklaying is under way on the branch railroad from Puuloa to the Pearl Harbor naval station.

According to Superintendent George P. Denison's report Oahu railway is well equipped with rolling stock, needing nothing new this year except two freight locomotives and perhaps twenty-five pineapple cars.
